

FAVORITE THING ABOUT TEACHING AT MIT

Working with nice, smart, interesting, hard-working, and conscientious young people who will significantly & positively impact the world. It doesn't get any better or worthwhile!

MIKE CONTI

AT MIT SINCE 2010

Teaching pistol & rifle and acting as Rangemaster

EDUCATION

Criminal Justice at Western New England College.
Gunology across the U.S., Europe & Asia

RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES

Writing fiction & non-fiction for publication
Riding & restoring old British motorcycles

BEST ADVENTURE

Nearly 25 years as a member of the Mass State Police

Mike Conti joined MIT as the firearms instructor and Rangemaster in 2010 after 25 years with the Massachusetts State Police. He teaches the very popular pistol and rifle courses for PE, which also contain a heavy mental training component. Conti received a degree in Criminal Justice from Western New England College and has further education in Gunology from institutions in the U.S., Europe, and Asia. Conti loves how he gets to work with such nice, smart, interesting, hard-working, and conscientious young people who will significantly and positively impact the world. He is most proud of his daughter Kate and son Nick. Conti enjoys restoring old British motorcycles and writing published works of fiction and non-fiction.